Old Time Jubilee at Colonel Allensworth State Historic Park

On Saturday May 21st from 10 am until 4 pm, Colonel Allensworth State Historic Park will host the annual Old Time Jubilee.

The Jubilee commemorates the time of year when the carnival would travel through this historic town, the only one in California founded, financed and governed by African Americans. Families and friends would come from all around to share in the festivities.

Visitors will be able to enjoy a spring day of entertainment at the stage, along with food and arts & crafts vendors who'll offer a variety of items to feed all the senses. Docents in period attire will also be in some of the historic buildings for tours.

The park is located approximately 42 miles northwest of Bakersfield on Highway 43. Park entrance fees are $8 per passenger vehicle, $50 for a bus with 24 passengers or less, and $100 for a bus with 25 passengers and more.

For directions or more information please call the numbers listed above.
